History:

BronPro Processors Pty (Ltd) was established in the late 1970s by Mr. JJ Alberts. Since then, the company has evolved from a small scale manufacturer of frozen, preserved guava and mango pulps to a South African market leader in the manufacture of aseptic subtropical pulps and concentrates.

Operations & Capabilities:

BronPro Processors process a wide variety of products from fruit into an aseptic, frozen or preserved product. Typical products are aseptic Guava, puree and concentrate, aseptic Mango, puree and concentrate, Passion fruit, Lemon, Orange, white and red Grapefruit, and Marula. We also process a range of fruit blends like nectars and 100% juice concentrates.

Technology:

We use European and Italian equipment to ensure we process according to the latest technology and standards.

Supply Chain:

We source our fruit in a 200 km radius from the factory and further support black economic growth by purchasing from local black farmers.

Corporate Culture:

This business was started by a single individual as a family business and has been continued in this tradition. We appreciate our staff and have embarked on a learnership programme with some of the employees to improve their skills and capabilities.

Sustainability & Environment:

We use macadamia nuts in our boiler to cut back on the coal usage.

Nuts are grown on the farm. We have implemented and continue to maintain the standards of Global Gap.

Capital Investment:

We continually expand and invest into the business and have recently become partners in a yogurt plant.

Marketing:

Marketing is handled by the General Manager and we pride ourselves on quality products and service excellence.

Future:

How would we know what the future holds? We can secure it by continuing to produce top quality products and being the very best we can be in our field of expertise.
